

Timothy Richard: China Missionary, Statesman and Reformer (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Timothy Richard: China Missionary, Statesman and Reformer

The materials for this biography have been gathered largely from two sources - the records of the Baptist Missionary Society and Dr. Richards articles and memoranda, for the most part contributed first to periodicals in China, and collected by him in the volumes, Conversion by the Million, published in Shanghai. Other authorities, however, have also been consulted, as the narrative will indicate. I have thought it well, in many places, to let Dr. Richard speak for himself, and his views will command interest and respect even where they do not secure acceptance. His opinions have always cut athwart many current theories. In some cases - as in the matter of Christian education in China - he has doubtless only been in advance of his age. I very gratefully acknowledge the kindness of the Rev. Richard Glover, D. D., in contributing the Appreciation of Dr. Richard, which forms the Introduction to the volume; also the valuable help rendered me, as shown in the respective places, by the Revs. J. Gomer Lewis, D. D., and W. Gilbert Walshe, M. A.
